LA SALLE UNIVERSITY

La Salle University is a liberal arts institution which combines the best of all educational worlds. With 6,477 men and women attending classes, the university offers a pleasant environment within close proximity to Phildelphia's cultural, social, and historic centers.

Founded by the Brothers of Christian Schools, La Salle is named for St. John Baptist de la Salle, founder of the Christian Brothers. The institution, which began as a one-building academy in center city Philadelphia, is on an 82.2 acre, 36-building campus in Philadelphia's Germantown section.

The La Salle day and evening faculty numbers 400 full and part-time, with 45 different programs of study offered in which to major. With a student-faculty ratio of 15-1 and an average class size of 21, students can be assured of as much personal guidance as needed from faculty members. This commitment to the individual has always been a major tenet of the Christian Brothers' goals for La Salle.

La Salle's curriculum requires the completion of 120 credits, but allows wide flexibility in choosing courses. A limited number of requirements in English composition, literature, philosophy and religion provide greater opportunity for depth outside of the student's major field. The number of courses required by a department of its major never exceeds 17, leaving 8-10 courses as free electives that may be used to build a strong minor or diversify one's backround.

Various independent study programs provide the students with greater options. A thriving nationally-recognized Honors Program is available for gifted students. "La Salle in Europe" offers students the opportunity to spend their sophomore or junior year at the University of Fribourg, in Switzerland, while receiving full academic credit at La Salle. Programs are also available for a summer or a year of study in Spain.

Three new facilities opened in 1988 and 1989. The $11 million Connelly Library has a capacity for 500,000 volumes, provides seating and study space for 1,000 students, and contains a state-of-the-art information storage and retrieval system including a computerized catalogue. The new all-weather Frank Wetzler track in McCarthy Stadium was also completed as were 75 townhouses which accommodate a total of 375 students.

Other campus features include College Hall, the campus landmark; the La Salle Union, which includes the 382 seat Dan Rodden Theatre; the Roland Holroyd Science Center, the Olney Hall classroom building which also houses the La Salle Art Museum, and Hayman Hall, the athletic facilities building which includes the Joe Kirk Memorial Pool with a seating capacity of 1,700, a 12 laps/mile suspended running track, weight training and exercise areas, a sauna, squash courts and a medical training area.

La Salle students come from 200 public and private schools in 30 states and 20 countries. The dormitories house more than 1,400 students in 11 residence halls and two apartment complexes. More than 75% of the student body goes on to graduate study, with more than 1,000 degrees conferred annually on day and evening division seniors.

La Salle graduates have won 43 Fulbright Scholarships and just about every other graduate award offered. Since 1965, each graduating class has averaged more than 40 fellowships, scholarships, and assistantships.

ROBERT MULLEN

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Robert Mullen is now entering his fourth year as the Director of Athletics at LaSalle University. He was named to this post on July 28, 1986, becoming only the fourth Director of Athletics in La Salle history. Mullen is the top administrator of the University's 22-sport intercollegiate program. Under Mullen's direction, the Explorers have won three of their five consecutive Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference Commissioner's Cup titles, emblematic of overall excellence in athletics within the conference.

Since Mullen came onto the scene at La Salle, the Explorers have shown a rebirth in national basketball prominence. The men were finalists in the 1987 NIT and have since made two consecutive trips to the NCAA Basketball Tournament. The upcoming season should also prove to be a fulfilling one, as the Explorers will play DePaul in a nationally televised game on ABC-TV in December.

Last year Mullen served as the President of the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference and he was Chairman of the Big Five in 1988. A member of the National Association of College Directors of Athletics (NACDA), Mullen has been an active administrator. Mullen was the President of the NAIA Athletic Directors Associa-tion and was a Division II College Representative to the Executive Committee of NACDA. At the international level, he has been a voting delegate to the U.S. Olympic Committee-U.S. Sports Council; in 1986, Mullen served as an administrator at the Goodwill Games in Moscow; he has conducted clinics at Sports Camps in Scandinavia; and visited 10 foreign countries with his collegiate basketball teams at Loras and Southern Colorado.

Prior to coming to La Salle, Mullen had been a successful administrator and coach at the University of Southern Colorado and at Loras College.

Mullen, 49, is a double graduate

HEAD COACH JOHN MILLER

74-15, 4th Year
MAAC Coach of the Year
1986-87, 1987-88, 1988-89
Big Five Coach of the Year
1986-87, 1987-88

John Miller

John Miller coached the Explorers to their third consecutive Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference title in just his third year as head coach, and in doing so became the winningest coach in La Salle history. The 28 victories La Salle amassed last season brought his total wins to 74, surpassing the old record of 61, held by Kevin Gallagher. Miller now holds a winning percentage of 83.1%, also tops in the record books.

John Miller and success have become synonomous when refering to La Salle women's basketball. Since Miller came aboard in 1986 the program has thrust itself into the national spotlight. At the close of the regular season in 1989, the Explorers were ranked as high as #18 in the AP Poll. This ranking earned the Explorers an at-large bid to the NCAA tournament, where they knocked off the University of Connecticut, 72-63. Not only was this the first NCAA tournament win for a La Salle women's basketball team, it was also the only win for a MAAC team in it's history of the NCAA , men or women.

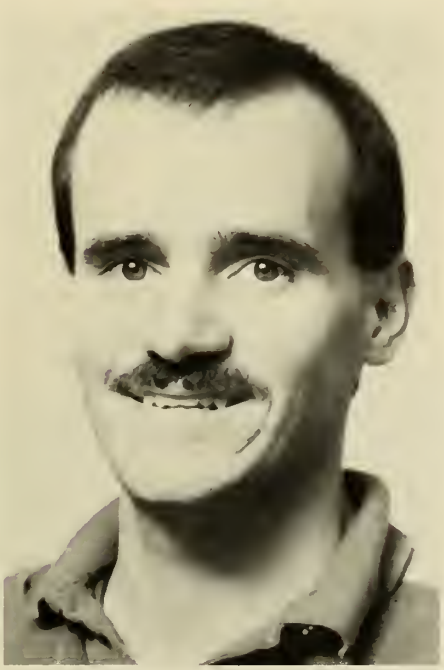
During the regular season, Miller didn't let much elude the grasp of his team, either. They started out by capturing both the Siena Classic Championship and their own La Salle Invitational. From there they went on to win the Philadelphia Big Five title with a spotless 4-0 record, and then the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference regular season title with an 11-1 slate. With the exception of the Siena Classic, all of these milestones were duplicate feats from the previous season.

For his accomplishments, Miller was recognized as the MAAC Coach-of-the-Year for the third consecutive season. He also added national ranking to this list of accolades by being named a 1989 Converse Coach-of-the-Year District Winner.

A 1969 graduate of St. Charles Seminary, Miller coached extensively at the high school level before taking over the women's program for Bill "Speedy" Morris in 1986. In 1976, he assumed the head coaching position at Archbishop Ryan High School. During his nine-year stint at Ryan, Miller was twice named Catholic League Coach-of-the-Year before taking over at Monsignor Bonner High School. He closed out his high school coaching career at Bonner with 150 wins to his credit.

Miller holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Philosophy from St. Charles Seminary, as well as a Masters degree in Guidance and Counseling that he earned in 1976 from Villanova. He resides in Philadelphia with his wife Emily and their one-month old daughter, Katherine.

ASSISTANT COACHES



Thomas Lochner

Assistant Coach

After serving for two years as a volunteer assistant, Tom Lochner will now serve as La Salle's first full-time assistant coach. Lochner came to La Salle after a chance meeting with Head Coach John Miller at the 1987 Women's NCAA Final Four. Prior to this Lochner coached girls basketball at his alma mater, Bishop Gibbons in Schenectady, NY, from 1980-87, the last four years as head coach of the varsity squad. During his head coaching tenure Bishop Gibbons went 87-13, winning the New York State Championship in the large school division with a 26-2 mark in 1986, along with three sectional titles. Lochner is a recent graduate of Temple University, where he earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Physical Education/Sports Administration. He also holds an Associate's Degree in Marketing from Hudson Valley Community College.

Cheryl Reeve

Graduate Assistant

A four-year starter and 1988 graduate of La Salle, Cheryl Reeve is entering her second year as the graduate assistant. An All-MAAC and Second Team All-Big 5 selection her senior year, Reeve is among the top 10 in La Salle's record book in nearly every category. In addition, Reeve was honored for her fine academic career by being named to both the MAAC and Big 5 All-Academic Teams for carrying a 3.4 grade point average as a management information systems major. She was further awarded the MAAC Scholar/Athlete of the Year post-graduate scholarship as well as an NCAA post-graduate grant. She is currently attending La Salle graduate school, studying for her MBA degree . Upon graduation in the spring of 1990, Reeve plans a future in college coaching.

1989-90 EXPLORER OUTLOOK

Coach John Miller has faced rebuilding before, but in 1989-90 he faces his toughest task of reconstruction. Gone are the top four players from last year's school-best record of 28-3. Tracey Sneed, Jennifer Snyder, Kelly Greenberg and Sheila Wall graduated as perhaps the best class in the program's history. The four combined to contribute 48.4 points, 17.2 rebounds, 13 assists and 7.7 steals per game in 1988-89.

The sole returning starter from last season is 5-11 junior Mary Greybush. Greybush, who averaged 8.0 points and 5.1 rebounds as a sophomore, will start at either the power forward or center spot. Seniors Anita Plakans and Brenda Mason will contend for the other starting spot underneath the basket. Plakans, the most experienced of all the Explorers, has played in 79 career games. A starter as a sophomore, Plakans moved to the sixth-man position in 1988-89 while she averaged 6.7 points and 3.9 rebounds. Mason, a transfer from Maryland, played 22 games last year for the Explorers. A strong presence under the basket, Mason also has a soft touch going for the score. Dolores Seiberlich, a 6-2 freshman, will push the upperclassmen at the center spot.

"Somebody is going to have to take over for Tracey," said Miller. Sneed was the top scorer in each of the last two seasons. "Hopefully somebody will surface to pick up the scoring for us."

The tightest race on the team is for the point guard position vacated by Greenberg, who owns all the school assist records and was the team's top three-point shooter for two years. Junior Denise Kayajian and sophomore Mimi Harris are dead-even in the race heading into preseason, according to Miller. Kayajian sat out last season after transferring from Virginia Tech, where she was the starting point guard for two years. Harris served as Greenberg's backup in 1988-89.

Senior Anita Plakans drives for two against the Lady Stags of Fairfield.

Miller's teams have gone with a three-guard offense over the last two years and may continue with that trend in 1989-90. The top returning player working for a starting spot at either the off-guard or small forward position is sophomore Jenny McGowan. McGowan was one of just four Explorers to play in all 31 games last season. A strong defensive player, McGowan also contributed 5.4 points per game last year.

Seniors Maureen Buckley and Gail Beatty hope to gain starting berths in their final season. Buckley, strictly a small forward, has a soft touch and can also rebound. Beatty, who usually plays the off guard, was 3-for-4 in three-point shooting in 1988-89. With the loss of outside shooting threat Jennifer Snyder, look for Beatty, along with sophomore Laura Reigstad and freshman Jennifer Cole to fill the 3-point shooting void.

The expanded Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference should provide the defending regular-season champion Explorers with a tough season. La Salle will also try to defend its Philadelphia Big Five crown. In tournament action, the University of Connecticut looks to be the toughest competition as La Salle try's for its third straight Rohm and Haas Invitational championship. The Explorers will also compete in the Florida International Tournament against such national powerhouses as Stephen F. Austin and James Madison.
